MEMBERS KEEPIN' BUSY

According to Ron Masterbuoni, he and Carol haven't done much during this “crazy time” but they did add to their family. Meet Master Zeke, their 3-year old Shitzu Poodle. He's almost as cute as Carol! ☺

Ron Sandvik has been carving away during “House Arrest”. He's finished this fine cigar store Native American (right). →

Some of us may have been spending a good deal of time outdoors doing a bit – or a lot – of gardening. WWWCG member Carol Cox is also belongs to the Eau Claire Area Master Gardeners and serves its newsletter editor. Carol invites anyone interested in gardening to visit their website at Eau Claire Area Master Gardeners

Rhoda Saatela (who rarely carves or plays with wood) has done a bit of woodburning, producing a small gourd vase decorated with ink dyes, and keychains colored with watercolor paints.

Vance Kohl recently completed this lovely chip carved box, of which he's justly proud. He thanks Jan Jenson for her fine teaching skills!

Speaking of Jan Jenson, she says she's been "doing some carving". Looks like a little bit more than "some"! Jan will be teaching classes in her home on Tuesday afternoons in October. (See pg 1).

Char Lynum says they bought their home 42 years ago. As 20-somethings, they didn't know what to do to repair sheet rock so they put up paneling. With the arrival of the pandemic and "Stay Safe at Home" policy, they're busy replacing "ugly, yellow flowered paneling" by repairing sheet rock and staining new woodwork. In the midst of all of that fun, she still managed to create a new pattern to share (see below). Thank you, Char!

Calendar of Events
